The effort to oust Herr Appelmann from his trenches in Burlington continues strong.

All the glamor that was built up about the Mexican Villa has been sandpapered off by his adversity.

Barre has contributed two more men who fell fighting for the cause of civilization, as against barbarism.

If the British pincers close in much more, Lens surely must fall into the hands of the rightful owners—the French.

It is quite an admission for the Germans to make, to say that they have lost a single submarine during the ruthless raid on commerce.

The entente allies have framed a new map of Europe to be fashioned after the war according to their own ideas. We hope the chickens will all be hatched.

One of these days the statement will creep into the official war reports of Great Britain and France that American troops participated in such and such a battle. Begin to expect it.

A contemporary points out most aptly that one fine way to beat the submarine game is for the captains of ships to keep their charges off the rocks. Of late there have been some costly shipwrecks.

They are beginning already to plan a celebration next year of the 25th anniversary of the introduction of moving pictures as a form of amusement. One is scarcely ready to believe that "movies" are as old as that.

Proof that the German government knew of Austria's ultimatum to Serbia was merely a repetition of what was generally believed. It adds nothing to the guilt of Germany because the guilt was already there.

King Alexander of Greece must have some inkling of the trials and tribulations to which he is heir on assuming a throne in these times of democracy and world war. Alexander may be there today, but there is no telling where he will be to-morrow.

Let all the drafted men of Washington county bear in mind that the examinations will begin at Montpelier to-morrow (Wednesday) and will probably continue until 22 able-bodied men not subject to exemption are chosen as the county's quota in the first national army.

It is rarely that governments of Europe change officials in a crisis, and one of those rare occasions is when things are not going well for the governments. Germany has just shifted nine of her most prominent officials, not to mention the chancellor himself. Because of such an upheaval there is reason for surmise that things are not going as well in the interior of Germany as the Prussian war lords had hoped for in the scheme of world domination.

The decision of Provost Marshal General Crowder that aliens of countries friendly to the United States may be accepted for service in the national army of the United States will undoubtedly cause a large number of aliens to take up arms under the flag of the country in which they are living and whose benefits they are receiving. Many of these men want to be accepted on the same status as American citizens are accepted because it is their intention to become naturalized just as soon as the flight of time will permit them. They are men of fine potentialities as American citizens and the country is ready to receive them gladly both as citizens and as soldiers of the republic.

A SOLDIERS' LIBRARY AT CHARLOTTE.

One of the encouraging bits of information from Camp Greene at Charlotte, N. C., where the former national guardsmen of New England are to be stationed during their training period, is that the American Library association is preparing for the construction of a library building for the convenience of the 400,000 men who are expected to be mobilized there. The library will be provided with books and magazines so that the soldiers may pass whatever leisure time they may have in such a way as to make for mental improvement as well as recreation. As we understand it, the people of Charlotte are interesting themselves in the movement to provide the library and then to stock it with books and magazines. There is no doubt that the New Englanders will appreciate these efforts very much and that their stay in the southland will be all the more pleasant by reason of the little attention to their routine of camp life. We already know that the Vermont soldiers appreciate books and magazines because of the call which has come from the state camp ground near Fort Ethan Allen, and it is probable that the demand will continue at Charlotte even though more of the soldiers' time will be taken up with the purely military phases of camp life and they will, in consequence, have less leisure to spend with books and magazines.

100 Men's Suits Reduced in Price!

Every Straw Hat in the store now just Half the regular price

SUIT SALE

Rocking Chair Athletic Union Suits, also a few Balbriggans, now 89c each, $1 and $1.50 quality.

This is no "slaughtering of prices"—no thousand suits at less than cost of manufacturing—no exaggerations, simply a sale of every odd suit and every light weight suit in our store; and at much less than the market price as follows:

$10-$12.50-$15

At $10	At $12.50	At $15
Suits in Fancy Worsteds and Cassimeres; $12.50, $15 and $18 values. A few small size Black Suits in this lot only $10.00 each	Men's regular cut Suits in light and dark Mixed Worsteds and Cassimeres, also Young Men's Pinch Back, fancy colors and Blue Serge, at $12.50 each	Some of the best Suits in our stock, values up to $25, a good range of colors, sizes and styles, values that are hard to match, at $15.00 each

All these suits are taken from our regular stock and the prices are marked in plain figures. Consider these former prices and the character of merchandise we sell, then look over these mark down values at once. They won't last long; it's a change from the nearly wornout saying "marked up."
